SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1876.

BROOKE COUNTY NEWS,-Oliver A Lewis, an aspirant for the House of Delegates, is considered an immense sort of a candidate by a correspondent of the The potato bugs are as thick in Brooke county as the candidates for office, and that is saying a good deal. There are four candidates for the State Senate, four for the House of Delegates, eight for the Sheriffalty, one for Prosecuting Attorney, one for the Assessorship, and one for the Presiding Justiceship. Hannibal Forbes, Trustee, advertises to sell 321 acres of land belonging to Alexander Campbell on the 29th of June.

Rev. Thomas Clansey, of Wheeling, preached in Wellsburg last night.

The News understands that a large delegation will go to the Charleston Convention, but whether on Major Jim Sweeney's boat, the O'Neal, or on Speaker Miller's boat, the Courier, or on both, re-

OUR OHIO COUNTY LETTER.

Editors of the Intelligencer:

The Secretary of the Point Mills Grange in a communication to the INTELLIGENCER claims that we were mistaken about the Grange movement being on the decline in mostly parts of the country, and gives statistich to prove it. Now our information is, and we still think it correct in this statistics is that it does not show the number of Granges that are dead and in a dying state. But we should have excepted Indiana—which he claims is their banner State—along with West Virginia. The hoosier State this excellent materials to make Granges of "Hoop-pole county" is no doubt the banner county in the State. The inhabitants of the 'seng regions of West Virginia (the banner section of our State) are a long way ahead of the inhabitants of the 'seng regions of West Virginia (the banner section of our State) are a long way ahead of the inhabitants of some parts of Indiana. It will be recollected that Morton stated in the Senate a few long way anean of the indicates of social parts of Indiana. It will be recollected that Morton stated in the Senate a few days ago that Indiana during the war was flong-combed? with secret societies which were organized for treasonable. purposes. The Secretary also says the Grange is not political, yet there is not a worthless demagogue in the land that is not in favor of it not in favor of it.

There must be a screw loose when farmers of the clod-hopper persuasion day asside plains Republican simplicity that ought to be the glory of every American citizen and try to ape the ab-American citizen and try to ape the absurd titles and trapings of monarchy and aristocracy. Every Grange has its master, while the private members have to be Sambos and Cuffys, and cower and cringe before their "massa." Only seris and slaves have masters. Freefinen that are worth a cent acknowledge nothing of the sort unless they are deluded into it in some way.

the sort uniess they in some way.

Now we protest against this Secretary, who is a worthy man, and all like him patronizing this miserable humbug. Gentlemen, you are in the wrong boat.

W. C. S. Ohio County, May 26, 1876.

A Place where John Boring was Needed.

[Wellsburg Herald.] The Democracy at their meeting here on Saturday last were a good deal in the condition of a gang of wild geese eaught in a fog, and their gabble does not seem to have amounted to much. There was a good deal of laying together of heads and looking wise, but after all, the candidates for county offices know no more now about inty offices know no more now about ir probable fate than they would have done, had the convention not met. So far as they are concerned, we believe the whole matter was laid over until August, until which time they will have to amuse themselves the best way they can.

Letter From Mr. James M. Laid-ley, of Kanawha. CHARLESTON, W. Va. May 22.

our estimate of the indebtedness of the ountry, I will proceed briefly to give a ew more views upon the "money ques-ion," and particularly in its relation to our resources and our wants.

One dollar kept in motion through the busy hours of the day, will fulfil the positions of ten er more stothful dollars when monopolized, as at present, by a few. So an amount of individual indebtedness So an amount of individual indevidence equal to our national debt may be created and discharged in an incredibly short space of time in an active, always-moving community, if the medium is at command.

space of time in an active, always-moving community, if the medium is at community. If the medium is at community if the medium is at community if the medium is at community. If the medium is at community if the medium is at community if the medium is at community. If the medium is at community if the medium is at year, but they will make a mistake if they do, as the probability is that the season will be less favorable than last year, and that the bugs will be very destructive, which will put up the price in favor of the values of the country, thirty-one thousand millions. Is estimate the annual value of the products of our soil and mines at three thousand fire hundred millions, and the total value of our annual products. Say that the mosey of the country is seven hundred millions, as the total value of our annual products. Say that the mosey of the country is seven hundred and fifty millions. Is this a just, healthy relation of money to property, or even to the annual products of labor?

But let me inquire, how did this enably of the country is seven hundred and fifty millions. Is this a just, healthy relation of money to property, or even to the annual products of labor?

But let me inquire, how did this enably augmented? It arose because the debtor could not command the means of discharging it. If we had been remitted, immediately upon the close of the war, to the semi-avage state of the Britons, in the early centuries of Christianis, in the early centuries of Christianis, in the same and the means of discharging it. If we had been remitted, immediately upon the close of the war, to the semi-avage state of the war, to the semi-avage state of the war, in the early centuries of Christianis of the country is state of things, would be better prepared for the worship of the "golden estal", Instead of doing so, our habits of industry, directed to the accumulation of wealth, have given birth to a digent.

Andwhy is not the national debt pa off? Certainly only because of the wa of means of discharging it. You agrithat over individua, and corporate i debtedness is the result of extravagan and wild speculation. Grant this is so, to a large extent, did the extravagance diminish the volume received. Alexander Campbell on the 29th of June
The Democratic Executive Committee is puzzled to know what to do about satisfying so many office-seekers. They will not come to a conclusion until the 5th of August. Perhaps by that time a few of them will be dead.
Butter is 18 and 20 cents per pound and eggs 12½ cents per dozen in Wellsburg.

Ber Thomas Cleanar of Whaling extravagance diminish the volume money? Does any principle of sour money? Does ment. Will not the same reasoning a count for our great individual and coporate indebtedness? Aye, with mucmore force, because in ninety-nine out every hundred cases of debt incurred, was upon the known or reputed ability in property and resources, of the debt to pay. In either case, why was cred sought? Simply because the means of immediate payment were not at the command of the debtor. Here credit forced to proper a double function.

mey's boat, the O'Neal, or on Speaker Miller's boat, the Courier, or on both, remains to be seen. ("if yees can't come in one ship come in two.")

In regard to wool the News says that Although it is too early in the season to arrive at the exact figures, it is generally believed that wool will not bring much over thirty cents the present season. It is true a lot was sold recently at thirty-five cents, but we are justified in saying that, from present appearances of the Eastern markets, wool will not command more than thirty cents, unless it be for extremely choice lots.

Here is a bit of pious advice from the editor of the News to his brethren here:

We hope the Demogracy of Ohio county will cense their bickerings, and make come harmonious fight this fall against the common enemy, who are watching with delight the little ripple that is now disturbing the usually placid waters. Remember, gentlemen, Ohio county is Demogratic to all intents and purposes, yet a few years ago you elected a Republican Sheriff. Such a thing might occur again.

The names of the candidates for Sheriff are as follows:

Thos. Buchanan, John Tweel, A. W. Kuhn, Thos. Everett, Samuel Blankinsop, J. E. Curtis, Abraham Wilson and J. M. Duval.

The names of Delegates: Lynn Rodgers, Chas. Simpson, Oliver A. Lewis and J. B. Somnerville.

For House of Delegates: Lynn Rodgers, Chas. Simpson, Oliver A. Lewis and J. B. Somnerville.

For the Senate: W. H. Tarr, W. P. Campbell, John Hindman and Wm. Hammond.

OUR OHIO COUNTY LEXITER.

To the outer of the county is the best policy," by paying off the enorgous national, corporate and individual indebtedness to which you refer.

Ido not mean to be understood as taking the position that the credit system is due solely to the ward of sufficient money in the country, but that it is due to that the country, but that it is due to that the country, but that it is due to that the country but that it is due to that the country but that it is due to that the country but that it is due to that the country but that i in the country, but that is due in the country of the cause wore than to all other causes combined. If reckless extravagance and profligacy is a characteristic of modern civilization, the General Government stands in the van of civilized nations. This is said in no party view. Who that cherishes the good name and fame of, and the former hap ye condition of the American people—who that contemplates the vast pyramid of public and private indebtedness—repudiation on the one hand and perpetual vassalage to the incubus of an increasing debt on the one hand and perpetual vastuments of the incubus of an increasing debt on the one hand and perpetual vastuments of the incubus of an increasing debt on the one hand and perpetual vastuments of the incubus of an increasing debt on the country and his countrymen from the extremity in which they are now placed?

While two-thirds of our population be-

While two-thirds of our population be-long to the debtor class, four-fifths of the remaining third is composed of both debtor and creditor at the same time, remaining third is composed of both debtor and creditor at the same time, leaving but a small class who are exclusively creditors. This disproportion between the debtor and creditor classes is daily widering, perhaps in about the ratio of decrease in our money. If the score could be accurately marked, it may be reasonably presumed that there is at least a thousand dollars less in circulation to-day thân there was yesterday, and that to-morrow evening there will be a like sum to be passed to the credit of the same account. This has been a daily recurring event—except that the loss must have been much greater when the volume of circulation was much larger—during the last fourteen/years. Yet I have never seen a currency statement, either from the Treasury Department of from any though the statement of the same account. This is in addition to the more rapid contraction by governmental action.

rapid contraction by governmental action.

As property, in all its forms, is a basis of money, so money is the medium of transferring its ownership. There is no necessity for the continued existence of debt, and the consequent perpetuation of a burthensome system of taxation to pay accruing interest, when the debtor is a sovereign, possessing plenary and exclusive power of creating money, except so far as the obligation of good faith requires. This good faith is as much due to the home debtor as to the foreign creditor, and should be as strictly observed in not increasing the burthens of the debtor, as in maintaining the just rights of the creditor. I refer to the terms of the original loan, and the medium of paying off the principal of the 5-20 bonds. Congress, I respectfully maintain, had no constitutional power to construct the terms of that contract—that is the office of the judiciary—nor to alter its terms, after it was closed.

Here was sown the germ of all our monetary wors, and here, too, was national sanction given to the fletion of specie basis for currency, which may well be characterized as "fallacious in theory, as impossible in practice." When Congress shall undo all that it has done in this direction, by the practical application of the sovereign power of the people in declaring the American dollar to be equal, as a standard of value, and in its purchasing power, with the dollar of any other nationality, and send it forth to pay all liabilities not expressly incursed as payable in coin, our greenbacks would become as much "absolute money" as that heretofore attributed only to coin. neretofore attributed only to coin.
